Excerpt from Old Glacial Drift Near Danville, Illinois The till that Eveland described as Nebraskan is now exposed in situ for the first time in the Harmattan Strip Mine at Danville, Unfortunately the strip mining Operation has ceased and the mine is filling with water; thus, this expo sure will soon be submerged and no longer available for study. The purposes of this paper are: (1) to describe the materials and stratigraphic relationships in the exposure so that interested workers may visit the section while it is available, and (2) to formally define this old till and an overlying silt and clay.
